THE SEVENTH REGIMENT NOT TO VISIT The Seventh regiment has decided to decline

the invitation received some weeks since from the Mayor of New Orleans to be present at the Mardi Gras festivities in February next. The following is the Letter of Colonel Clark to the Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements:-

HEADQUARTERS SEVENTH REGIMENT, N.G.S.N.Y., NEW YORK, Jan. 8, 1878.
C. HANCOCK, Esq., E. M. E. School of Pesign, New bonor.

I beg to assure you that the kindly sentiments expressed by yoursell and by His Honor the Mayor in respect to this regiment, and the people of this city generally, and the desire "that the most friendly relations should now exist between all sections of the thoron," are heartily reciprocated by the officers and members of this regiment. That such relations may continue to exist in all lature time, and that peace and properity may smile upon all parts of our common country is the earnest wish of those I have the honor to represent. With great respect, yours truly.

EMMONS GLARK,

Colonel Seventh regiment, N.G.S.N.Y.

THE STEAM TUG STABBING AFFRAY.

Coroner Etckhoff yesterday afternoon held an inquest in the case of Peter Davis, late a fireman on board the steam tugboat William A. Hennessy, who was stabbed with a knife in the hands of Charles Spreng, also a fireman on board the same boat. After listening to the case the jury felt satsfied that Spreng was justified in using the knile.

Michael O'Neill, pilot of the steam tug William A. Hennessy, deposed that he saw Dayls early on the moraing of the 2sth ultimo; he said he had been stabled and that Spreng had done it. Dayls was somewhat quarreisome when under the induence stabbed and that Spreng had done it; Davis was somewhat quarreisome when under the inducace of liquor.

Abraham Brooks, engineer of the Hennessy, testified that at hall-past twelve o'clock on the morning of the 25th uit, he was called out of his bunk by Spreng, who said Davis was licking him; Davis came up and told the witness that Spreng had called him a son of a b—h and he would not stand it; they returned below, when the witness heard Davis say "Charles, Fil knock hell out of you;" both Davis and Spreng soon came up the ladder, and bavis and spreng soon came up the ladder, and bavis and he had been stabbed, and was atterwards sent to the hospital; Davis was inclined to be quarreisome when intoxicated. Spreng was a quiet, mild tempered man.

Michael Malloy, one of the deck hands, restified that Davis was a quarreisome man and had threatened to assault nim; Davis sometimes came on board drunk, and on these occasions was mussy.

Spreng was then called and testified in his own behalt. His testimony was the same in substance gas nerestore published in the Heralib. He concluded by saying that Davis assaulted, and while beating him severely he (the witness) caught up a knife and stabbed him, after which he ran ashore and went to his house in Division street and the following night went to Phinadelphia; while there heard that Davis was dead; then returned to this city and gave himself up.

The medical testimony, showing the cause of death, was read, after which the case was submitted to the jury, who found that Peter Davis came to his death by a knife in the hands of Charles Spreng, on board the tugboat Wintam A. Hennessy, at pier No. 52 East River, on the 28th of December, Spreng, on board the tugboat Wilnam A. Hennessy, at pier No. 52 East River, on the 28th of December, 1874, and we consider that his act was justifiable under the circumstances.

Spreng was thereupon discharged from custody and lett the court with his riends. He appears to he a very respectable young man.

Davis was twenty-seven years of age and a native of England.

KILLED ON THE RAIL.

Yesterday afternoon as the four o'clock train from Trenton was approaching the station at Edgewater, below Burlington, a wagon containing Aifred Weygand, his wife and child was struck by the locomotive. The woman and child were killed instantly and the man latally injured. The horse was terribly muthated and the wagen broken to fragments. The bodies were removed to Edgewater, where an inquest will be held. Wevgand states that he had no notice of the approach of a train. Great excitement arose in the village when the mangled remains of the woman and her child were brought in. The railroad crossings at this place are left almost entirely unprotected. Wergand was an old resident and was highly respected. The phy-sicians think he cannot recover.
